

PRINCETON IN WASHINGTON

In the PIW program, the STARS and STRIPES take on a whole new meaning!

Announcing the PIW Kick-Off event for Summer 2013!

Tuesday, June 11 (Time to be Announced) Hall of the States Building, Washington, D.C.

The Princeton-in-Washington (PIW) program is open to students in the Classes of 2014, 2015, and 2016 who will be in the Washington, DC area during the summer months. You can sign up at any time—even during the summer—but make sure to sign up as soon as possible to receive information about the Kick-Off and many other fantastic events!

To sign-up, simply join the listserv at <http://bit.ly/Princeton-in-Washington>

For more information about the program, visit our website at ocsweb.princeton.edu/piw or contact Bowen Peard '15 at piwc@princeton.edu.

- ★ Meet Princeton alumni who are engaged in many areas of D.C. life—from government, to science, to the arts.

"(The PIW events I attended) were a wonderful way to see the breadth of career options available in the DC area, ranging from politics to NGOs to corporations. It was also a really neat way to hear some pretty incredible stories from people who are experts in their fields."

–Tara Ohrtman '13

- ★ Form a strong community with fellow students and a helpful network for the summer.

"PIW made my summer in DC a once-in-a-lifetime experience... My suggestion for any intern working in DC is to go to every single PIW event because it would be a pity for anyone to miss any of these thrilling experiences."

– Jack Ching '13

- ★ Learn about diverse career paths.

"Whether it was meeting with representatives from the FBI, CIA, Federal Reserve Board, or the White House, the PIW program greatly enriched my summer internship experience by encouraging me to think about how my interests and background may translate into valuable public service careers in the future."

– Shirley Gao '13

- ★ Attend informative and fun social events.

"PIW embodies everything that makes Princeton unique and the best. This program made my summer because I got to see the CIA, sit in Bernanke's chair in the Fed board room, visit the Pentagon and even tour the D.C. Google office."

– Samson Schatz '13

